

12 October 2017

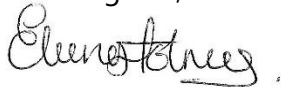

Dear Parent/Guardian,

Your child is currently studying GCSE Music, and 40% of the course is studying eight set works for a written listening paper. In order to prepare for these works, the Bournemouth Symphony Orchestra is offering an expose of some of the content led by an education outreach leader. This is a fantastic opportunity for both Year 10 and 11 as the lecture covers the context, history and theory of music throughout the given musical periods for the exam. It is an interactive experience that allows students to listen to some of the set works performed live, discussed and then broken down.

- Wednesday 8 November.
- Exeter Corn Exchange.
- Packed lunch and drink are needed.
- Leaving school at 10am and returning at 3pm.
- Voluntary contribution of £5 requested from each student to cover transport (tickets are free thanks to Babcock Devon).

I do hope you are able to support your child in attending this trip.

Kind Regards,

Emma Luing-Holmes
Head of Performing Arts
